Art Unit: 3736

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-58 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. In the remarks submitted on February 25, 2002 by applicant, it was argued that each diode was capable of emitting light at 600, 900, or 1200 nm, depending on the pulse supplied thereto. However, the specification on page 13 states that each diode simultaneously emits light at 600, 900, and 1200 nm. This is contradictory to applicant's arguments and must be clarified. In addition, it is unclear how a diode emits 3 differing wavelengths of light simultaneously. Clarification is required.

The examiner notes that upon resolution of the above issue, the art rejection will be revisited.
